

Kasia Korczak and Boy Vereecken IUAV / Venezia – Workshop 30th June 2009

For our workshop at IUAV / Venezia on the 30th of June 2009 we would like to make a visual application of information graphics.

Research results from the workshop will be used for a book we are working on right now titled 'JDS Agenda 09'. The book presents the work of JDS architects (www.jdsarchitects.com), yet occupying the territory between a monograph, diary, lecture(s), and collection of essays, interviews, and conversations. It is an ambitious undertaking that will involve architects, writers, and designers from all over the world at the forefront of contemporary architecture theory and practice. Not limited to solely presenting the images and project descriptions of the office, our aspiration is that the publication will also be a valuable cultural document.

Book will take the format and structure of the agenda/calendar. Architectural work of JDS studio, lecture(s), interviews, conversations and collection of essays occupying working days of the week (Monday to Friday) with Saturday and Sunday being used for information graphics application consisting of index data of JDS architects office activity. Those activities include:

- Staff count index
- Countries occupied (physical present) index
- Emails sent/ received index
- Ongoing project index
- Hours worked (per project) index

Application will cover one week data.

Before our arrival we would like students to collect varied material covering the topic of information design. Here are some key figures in this subject:

www.stroom.nl/webdossiers/webdossier.php?wd\_id=3530772

Material collected should be printed out and pinned on the walls of the studio of the workshop before the start. Furthermore all the books from the library on the topic of information design should be collected and available in the workshop.
